

Isn't there some mistake in my numbering of the species. For remark that I have the same number as before but I only excluded one (P. viminalis) and added four. I put in the numbers as I was copying from my rough draft and must have made a mistake somewhere - I sprawl over a good deal of surface and my MS taken in notes has probably led you at first glance to think I had been altogether too wordy - I counted word for word in a few instances to see if I was running too loose altogether - And mind you every attention "looking towards brevity" and "clearness also" will be most thankfully accepted -

Yours very truly
